

Cindy Wilson is the Right Choice for State Superintendent

As professional educators we have a front row seat on what is happening in school buildings across the Treasure Valley, and a good understanding of education policies and procedures. We also know that real leadership, grounded in the best interests of students and built on experience and dedication, is what Idaho needs from our State Superintendent of Public Instruction. After careful consideration and vetting of the candidates, our choice is very clear. Cindy Wilson is the right candidate for public education in Idaho, and we are unwavering in our support of her in this race.

Cindy is a highly accomplished and decorated educator who has the respect of her peers in the profession. She was named to the Governor's Task Force on Improving Education, where she helped craft the recommendations that have enabled Idaho to make some headway on teacher compensation, resources for districts, and other improvements. She was also appointed to the Idaho Board of Corrections and understands the importance of investing in public education.

Cindy will make it a priority to establish a culture where teachers are respected and are given the autonomy to utilize their experience and training for the benefit of their students. She understands the challenges facing our smaller and rural schools, and the importance of finding solutions that ensure every Idaho child has access to a quality education.

Our public schools in Idaho need a committed, passionate, knowledgeable leader at the helm. We encourage voters to support the candidate who will move public schools forward in Idaho—Cindy Wilson.
